Promoting conservation, sportsmanship and education in respect to walleye fishing.

“ANGLERS NIGHT”

with Tom Neustrom

I was born into a fishing family and basically started fishing when I was about three years old. I went with my Dad about every weekend to the Chain of Lakes located in Northern Illinois, and also would pedal my bike a short distance to Lake Michigan, in Chicago, and fish nearly daily in the summer. We went to our cabin in Northern Wisconsin several times during the year and began to hone my skills as an angler.

I have been haunted by water all my life and started guiding in 1976 at Lake Geneva in Wisconsin. Upon moving to Minnesota in 1979, I began guiding there in 1980 and have ever since. I love to write and was asked to write a few articles for Fishing Facts Magazine and then for In-Fisherman and North American Fishing publications. This gave an additional opportunity to work with sponsors and develop a foundation for the future. To this date, I still contribute to all three of these publications as well as many others. I have been recognized as one of the top walleye guides in the country by In-Fisherman Magazine, North American Fisherman, Field and Stream, and Outdoor Life.

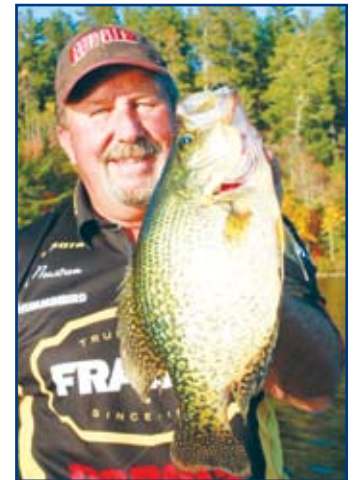

I have hosted a radio show called “Guides Corner” for the past 18 years and it was nominated for the prestigious Minnesota Broadcaster’s Association Excellence of Craft on two occasions. I was inducted into the National Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame in 2009 as a Legendary Guide which is a very humbling experience when you consider that only two guides are inducted each year throughout the entire country. I was recently elected Vice President of the National Professional Anglers Association Board of Directors and with my industry experience and passion for the sport, I hope to help this nationally respected organization to continued growth in the years to come.

I represent several of the leading companies in the fishing industry including Costa Del Mar, Daiwa Reels and Rods, Mercury Marine, Lund Boat Co., Johnson Outdoors(MinnKota, Humminbird and Cannon, LakeMaster), Rapala, Suffix Line, Trigger X, Storm, Gemini Sport Products, Plano Molding, Frabill Co., Aquateko(Invisa-Swivel)and Strikemaster. These are all leaders in the fishing industry and I am proud to have my name associated with each and every company.

During the late fall and winter I’m on the road doing seminars, in-store promotions and attending product meetings with several of the companies and rep groups. Fishing is a 12 month a year process for me and I love what I do. - Tom Neustrom

President's Comments...

Wow, it's been a crazy busy these last few months. First off, very special thanks to Gary Sauvageau and Barry Chouinard for many years of service on the Board of Directors. They have both given hundreds and possibly thousands of hours to our club. We all hope they don't go far though, as their experience is priceless.

Second, I would like to welcome Tyler Wisner and Brenton Hell to the Board of Directors; both of these gentlemen are very passionate about the sport we love and will be GREAT additions to what is already an excellent group.

Lastly, being elected as the President of FM Walleyes Unlimited, a club that many people feel is the best in North America, is truly a humbling experience. If any of you have any questions, ideas, complaints, or just a comment, please feel free to contact me anytime by phone or e-mail.

See you on the Ice, Scotty

ASK THE PROS

with Corey Heiser and Troy Morris

This is the first installment of the "Ask the Pro" column in the Walleye Lines newsletter. Each month Corey Heiser and Troy Morris, both members of FM Walleyes Unlimited who compete on the MWC Trail, will answer your questions to the best of their ability, sharing their knowledge, experience and expertise. Troy and Corey have fished the FLW, PWT, and the MWC trails over the years and are anxious to share what they have learned.

"We are very excited to being able to contribute to FM Walleyes and the Newsletter. Please send in all kinds of questions whether its' about boat rigging, tackle storage, techniques or even how to pursue your dream of becoming a professional in the fishing industry."

To submit your questions for Corey & Troy go to the FM Walleyes Unlimited facebook page or e-mail them to kyle.agre@gmail.com

THIS MONTH'S QUESTIONS ARE:

What is your favorite body of water to fish during a tournament and while you are fishing for fun?

Troy's response- Growing up on the Missouri River system in Bismarck, fishing fast water current is by far the most fun and my favorite bodies of water to fish. The most popular options you have on these types of systems are vertical jigging, pitching jigs with live or artificial baits, trolling or casting crank baits and many more..... Also with so many places to fish on these types of systems you do not need to be crowded by boats and can fish your own spots by yourself at many times.

Corey's Response- That's truly an ironic and awesome question, because for me it is two different places. I love to fish Devils Lake on my free time. It's one of the few places in the world I can decide how I'm going to fish before I get there and typically put walleyes in the boat doing that such technique. For tournaments, I enjoy going to new places. Trying to figure out a new body of water in a weeks' time is truly a challenge. Last year, I fished different techniques at every event. That's the beauty of walleyes, they are different everywhere you go.

During the off-season, what do you do to prepare for the next year?

Corey's Response- There truly is no offseason. After the tournament season winds down, it's time to get after the year end reports, put together proposals for new sponsors, and find out what is new from the current sponsors. Most companies are starting to put together their marketing plan for the following season. That means shows, shows, and a few more shows.

Troy's Response- I will first figure out which events I am thinking about fishing next year, then shop the internet on reports for the past years fishing reports and most important are water levels for that particular body of water. Water levels are very important because it can dictate the presentation you might be using, when levels are high, fishing over trees and brush or shallow water back bays, or when levels are low and fishing main lake points and deep flats. Once I figure out where, have my lake maps purchased, studied lake maps and surfed the net on local hot spots, then figure out why they are holding fish that time of year and mark more spots on my map, then pull everything out of my boat and organize, organize and organize tackle boxes and rods.

2012 ANNUAL MEETING FEATURING JIM CARROLL

The 2012 annual club meeting brought over 100 club members together at the El Zagal Shrine to enjoy a bowl of chili and the evenings featured guest, Jim Carroll share ideas on customized ice fishing gear organization and electronics. Jim, a veteran professional angler from Minot, ND, spends a good part of the winter pursuing fish on the hard water from perch to pike and everything in between. As many club members are planning for the upcoming Lake Winnipeg Ice Fishing Excursion next month the information was both useful and timely.

Jim spoke first about the basic equipment needed for portable ice fishing organization. He compared the portable 'sled' type ice houses to a boat used on the ice. Give careful consideration to the type of fishing that will be done along with the number of people who will be fishing in the house. The market today offers sled models to accommodate from one to four anglers comfortably. Other important components include the tent material, hyfax runners, hitch and cover. Spending extra time picking out the right sled/tent combination for your fishing needs can make a huge difference in your experience out on the ice.

In further customization of an ice sled/tent Jim shared examples of how a framework can be built within the sled to create a 'deck' similar to a fishing boat. This deck can include hatches for storage of ice gear and seats to make long days on the ice more comfortable. LED lighting can brighten up the interior of any fish house. Aftermarket light strings and lanterns can be purchased to fit the needs of your individual fish house. Many of these lights can be powered from a small

From here, Jim explained, further customization can be developed to fit your fishing gear and tackle. Milk crates, plastic totes and coolers may be used for safely transporting bait, clothing, heaters and other gear. Specially designed hard sided ice rod cases or gun cases protect ice rods of any size during a rough ride across a big lake.

Jim continued by discussing the many options available for ice fishing electronics. A quick poll of those in attendance showed nearly everyone using the flasher type sonar units made by Vexilar, Marcum and Humminbird. Although Jim acknowledged the progress that flasher manufacturers have made over the past 20 years he shared that it is his belief that flashers will be obsolete in the next 5 years. He stated that LCD sonar units, particularly those manufactured by Lowrance, are now offering features which surpass those of the flasher units. Many also incorporate GPS technology and can easily be used year round in the boat as well as on the ice. Referencing a recent episode of The Next Bite, Jim shared a story of how the flat rectangular screen and recorded history features of the Lowrance Elite 5 allowed the hosts to compare their 'jigging cadences' while out on Lake Winnipeg and dial in on what was triggering the fish to bite.

The meeting concluded with a question and answer session followed by time for attendees to visit with Jim as they checked out his custom sleds that he brought along for display.
